

OSA FESTIVAL 2018

The 7th Annual OSA Orchestra Performance Festival
April 5th and 6th, 2018: CENTRAL PEEL SECONDARY SCHOOL
April 26, 2018: YORK UNIVERSITY TRIBUTE COMMUNITIES HALL

For the 7th consecutive year, the OSA will be hosting its annual Orchestra Festival, offering performance and clinic opportunities to string and symphonic ensembles from across our province.

There will be up to 36 ensembles participating in the 3 day event. Their festival experience will include a wonderful facility with a separate warm up and performance venue, leadership award, performance feedback from more than one adjudicator and a recording of their performance. After their performance, each group will receive a clinic with one of our esteemed festival adjudicators.

We will be pleased to be working with five amazing adjudicators from the strings, performance, and music education industries.

There are plenty of spots between our new venue for Day 1 and Day 2, at Central Peel SS in Brampton - our fabulous and gracious hosts will be coproducing the event with the OSA! Please note that all levels of string ensemble are welcome, including Full Symphony Orchestras

And for the London area and other folks whose spring festivals fall late, we have our April 26 date (at York University) which we do hope you will consider. This has become the premier "strings-specific" performance festival in Canada with over 1200 participants over the three days!

We urge you register and/or inquire using our new online registration form.

The OSA believes this is a valuable, viable opportunity for ensembles of all levels and is excited to be making this opportunity available again this year.
